

Editors' Introduction

We are pleased to present this first volume of Excellence in Higher Education, established under the auspices of the Consortium of Indonesian Universities-Pittsburgh (KPTIP: Konsorsium Perguruan Tinggi Indonesia-Pittsburgh) with the support of the Decentralized Basic Education (DBE2) project funded by USAID. EHE is published by the University Library System (ULS) of the University of Pittsburgh. Excellence in Higher Education is an international, peer-reviewed journal that seeks to publish scholarly articles on research projects that can significantly contribute to theory development, policy, and practice. EHE covers all areas of education research in both Indonesian and broader international contexts, with a focus on higher education management, active learning, and interdisciplinary research.

EHE aims to reach a wide range of readers including scholars, practitioners, policy makers, development partners, and students of education. The journal's scope is broad in methodology, welcoming articles that employ a range of qualitative, quantitative, and mixed research methods. EHE contributions include analyses of education discourse, policy, and practice from interdisciplinary perspectives and their implications for higher education management, policy, research, teaching, and learning in higher education. The editors of EHE encourage submissions that use innovative methods of research and explore educational problems from multiple perspectives and include cross-disciplinary engagement with educational research. Manuscripts submitted to EHE are judged according to the following criteria: importance of the topic, appropriateness for EHE, quality of research (i.e., theoretical framework, research methods, discussion, etc.), and quality of writing.

We hope this journal will enhance scientific cultural life on individual KPTIP member campuses as well as among the several local and international universities comprising KPTIP. This consortium is striving to have an accredited journal, drawing on the dedication and loyalty to scientific inquiry of those working in member higher education institutions. We carry a responsibility to disseminate and share knowledge with general and academic audiences, thereby building the intellectual life of higher education in Indonesia and abroad.

The scientific journal in your hands now is focused on the field of higher education to conform with our working environment and innovation efforts that are pillars of human development and scientific endeavor. Now that this first volume is complete, we encourage readers to submit their work for publication consideration. We also welcome advice and suggestions to improve this journal in terms of content, layout, and scope.

Irwan Nasution
IAIN North Sumatra, Indonesia
John C. Weidman
University of Pittsburgh, USA

Editors-in-Chief