Anonymous program evaluation/practice change survey
- Project is privacy-sensitive

Changes in protocols required/Conditions: none

Recommendations: none

Next Steps: This status is valid through the expiration date listed above. If the project continues past this date, a review is required before the expiration date to ensure uninterrupted project activity. Submit your request for review for continuing approval no less than two weeks prior to the current project approval expiration date.

Projects involving human participants that the Human Participant Protections Officer has deemed to be privacy sensitive, but does not constitute as Research under federal regulation, does not require further attention or review for the remainder of the project's approval period. If changes are made to the privacy sensitive project protocols that would reclassify this project as subject to the HIPAA Privacy Rule, a submission for HIPAA privacy review must be submitted. If changes are made to any project protocols that would reclassify the project as human participants' research, a submission must be made for MPHI IRB review.

It is your responsibility to know and follow all Privacy and Security policies and protocols when accessing, using, and/or transmitting privacy sensitive data. It is your responsibility to ensure that all employees working on this project have successfully completed MPHI Privacy Training PRIOR TO ANY WORK BEING DONE. Please contact the ORIC staff if you have any questions.

Please Note: Temporary staff must sign confidentiality agreements and complete Privacy, and Incident Reporting Training.

It is your responsibility to report any inadvertent disclosures of privacy sensitive information, or unanticipated or adverse events.

In future communication, please reference the MPHI Log number listed above. Please feel free to contact ORIC staff with any questions about the review process or approval. Thank you.
